Excellence in Decommissioning Award 2018

This award recognises a company that is leading the way in how we do decommissioning in the UK.

AWARD CRITERIA:

Whilst decommissioning is in its early years as an activity across the North Sea, the UK is already leading the way with some major decommissioning projects complete and others getting under way. The Excellence in Decommissioning Award will recognise the winning formula a company has employed in pursuing the potential £50-60 billion home market over the next 30 years and those who are seeking to use their UK experience to access the global decommissioning market.

- Nominees are invited to provide a written submission or presentation demonstrating how they have contributed to decommissioning excellence. Applications will be judged on evidence of combining efficiency, innovation, safety and cost performance in ongoing or imminent decommissioning projects. Special recognition will be given to those companies that have actively shared learning across industry and within their own organisation to improve outcomes and promote capabilities.
